

一般社団法人 インドネシア教育振興会 (IEPF)

Mission Statement

Our slogan is "International volunteer starts from one pencil". We are established to promote education for Indonesian children. We hope to increase the chances of education for many more children by the distribution of donation supplies of stationery and the construction of school and library. We act as an intermediary between the local and Japanese children and the students through these activities. Japanese children will be able to obtain international understanding and cooperation, the spirit of mutual understanding and generosity. We also cultivate an awareness of being a global citizen in them. One of our main organizational goals is to establish a lasting mutual relationship between the children from both countries.

Organization Summary

Indonesia is a country which has been burdened by racial religion conflicts and many problems which is related to globalization. Our organization seeks for assistance by creating awareness about the poor living and educational environment of the local Indonesian student through the internet. After attaining this information, the Japanese Elementary, Junior and Senior high school students begin to consolidate the stationeries for the donations in their individual class and student council. After that, we will deliver the stationeries to the children directly. The children will exchange their own drawings or use their suggested new methods for communication. Our organization also supports this communication. Our corporate office and legal body also acts as the core to develop educational materials for moral education, education about harmony and environmental education programs on reconstruction and establishing of elementary school. We also emphasize on the improvement of literacy for children and protection of the environment.

Education situation in Indonesia

Many problems on children education in Indonesia exist beyond imagination. Most of them can be attributed mainly to poverty and economic reasons.

In 1997, the beginning of economic crisis had a great impact on every aspect of life in Indonesian. The crisis caused a significant expansion in the gap between those who live in prosperity and those who in poverty. It also made a constant increase in school drop-out rate. In 1996, children drop out of school in Indonesia were estimated to be about of 6 millions. In 2011 more than 10 millions of children in Indonesia drop out of school due to economic reasons.

On the other hand, those children who go to school, they attend a dual sessions (morning or afternoon) in a dilapidated school. There are also a large number of school children who do not have notebooks and stationeries.
